UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT NOTICE

Plaintiff [name] has filed a lawsuit in this Court to enforce its copyright in [name], a major motion picture. It alleges that an unknown party, identified only by the Internet Protocol (“IP”) address of [number], has copied and distributed this motion picture without its consent through a public Popcorn Time network.

Plaintiff has subpoenaed the Internet Service Provider (“ISP”) to obtain the identity of the party assigned the ISP account associated with the infringing activity, commonly called the subscriber. The ISP has identified you as the subscriber. The subscriber may or may not be the same as the alleged infringer. Therefore, plaintiff is attempting to find out whether you, as the subscriber, are an innocent third party and, if so, the identity of the alleged infringer.

It is important that you do not ignore this lawsuit. If you fail to do so, plaintiff may ask the Court to enter an Order requiring you to take certain action. You are obligated to comply with all subpoenas and Orders issued by this Court that you receive, whether by mail, personal service or otherwise.
